

Abby Lorimier is an American cellist and cello teacher based in London, England. She holds a Bachelor's degree from the Royal College of Music and a Master's degree from the Royal Academy of Music. Abby performs professionally in the United Kingdom and internationally as an orchestral and chamber musician. She recently completed a one-year orchestral fellowship with the Southbank Sinfonia and has worked with a variety of other ensembles including Sinfonia Cymru, the London Sinfonietta Academy, the Irish Chamber Orchestra Academy, and the Orchestra of the Americas. A passionate music educator, Abby has received training in the Suzuki and ABRSM methods and teaches in schools and privately across West London as well as online for the Gifford Youth Orchestra in Vero Beach, Florida.